Company description

Build your Software-Defined Enterprise with VMware

A software-defined enterprise breaks the bonds that tie IT systems and end-user environments to physical infrastructure. It offers the most efficiency, agility and control. We are the recognized leader in virtualization and automation of compute, networking and storage resources from the desktop to the data center and to the cloud. Our technologies and the open standards they support provide a unified foundation that lets you deliver the vision of "one cloud, any application, any device."
